

Employee Handbook

Northwind Technologies Pvt. Ltd. | Code of Conduct & Reporting Structure

1. General Conduct

Every employee is expected to act with integrity, professionalism, and respect towards colleagues, clients, and partners. The following standards apply to all staff:

- Treat everyone with courtesy and dignity. Harassment, discrimination, or bullying of any kind is not tolerated.
- Protect confidential company and client information at all times. Do not share internal data outside authorised channels.
- Avoid conflicts of interest and disclose any that may arise to your manager or HR.
- Use company assets — laptops, software, and accounts — responsibly and primarily for business purposes.
- Adhere to the information-security policy, including strong passwords and not sharing login credentials.

2. Reporting Structure

Northwind follows a clear, flat reporting structure to keep communication fast and transparent:

- Every employee has a single reporting manager responsible for their day-to-day work, leave approvals, and performance reviews.
- Reporting managers report into their respective Team Leads / Department Heads (Engineering, Data, Product, Sales, and Operations).
- Department Heads report to the Vice President of Operations, who reports to the CEO.
- The HR department operates independently and is available to every employee for grievances, policy questions, and support.

3. Raising Concerns

If you have a workplace concern, raise it first with your reporting manager. If unresolved, you may escalate to the Department Head or directly to HR (hr@northwind.example). All concerns are handled confidentially.

4. Working Hours & Attendance

Regular attendance and punctuality are expected. Attendance is tracked via the SSO badge system. Three or more unexplained absences in a month may be reviewed with your manager and HR.

5. Acknowledgement

By continuing employment with Northwind Technologies, every employee acknowledges that they have read and agree to abide by this handbook.
